Rev. Father Hillebrand Gives a Summary of Places He Visited.

Paid a Visit to the Emerald Isle While En Route Home.

After All, America Is the Place For Him Above Any Other.

WARMLY WELCOMED BY HIS PEOPLE

The Rev. Father J. H. Hillebrand, pastor of St. Mary's-of-the-Knobs, Floyd county, Ind., has returned from a four months' tour through the principal cities of Europe and the Holy Land. During his tour he celebrated the holy sacrifice of the mass at nearly all the noted shrines in Europe and Palestine. Previous to his trip the Rev. Father had mapped out his course and he now says that with very few exceptions he followed the lines laid down by himself. For instance, he said to several friends before leaving home that he would try to be at Mount Olivet on Ascension day. Sure enough, he celebrated mass on that blessed mount at 6 o'clock on Ascension day. Yea, on the very place from whence the Saviour ascended into heaven nearly 2,000 years ago.

Father Hillebrand also celebrated mass at Lourdes, Jerusalem, Mount Calvary, Bethlehem and Nazareth. He was in the same field where the shepherds were guarding their flocks when the star appeared and the angels began chanting the "Gloria in Excelsis Deo" and announcing the birth of the Saviour. The Rev. Father was in the garden of Gethsemane and saw the noted Solomon's garden; took a boat ride on Lake Geneva; visited the Dead Sea and twice crossed the Mediterranean Sea.

Returning to Rome, Father Hillebrand spent some time near the Vatican and took particular notice of St. Peter's. He has a great many interesting things to say of that grand old edifice. Our reverend traveler spent some time in Rome and saw his Holiness Pope Pius X. From Rome he went to Venice, Naples, Paris, Emsiedeln, Strasburg and many other places of interest. He located the church wherein his father was baptized. Father Hillebrand preached there twice and discovered about twenty-five relatives of whom he had never heard of before.

From Germany our traveler went to England and visited the tombs of many famous men in Westminster Abbey. After seeing England to his satisfaction, he crossed to Ireland, visited Dublin and spent some time in seeing some of the principal parts of the Emerald Isle. Thence back to Southampton, from which place he sailed for New York.

Father Hillebrand says he had a splendid voyage both going and coming, and enjoyed his trip very much, but was glad indeed when he saw again the land of his birth, America. After spending some time in New York he took passage for home, reaching his rectory on September 8. He left on April 26, so that his tour covered a period of four months and twelve days. Our reverend traveler says that the places he visited have their advantages and disadvantages, but America is the place for him and he was extremely glad to get back and to meet his old congregation. On his return he found everything in good order, and his parishioners gave him a hearty welcome. His trustees met him in New Albany and his conveyance from there to St. Mary's-of-the-Knobs was met by two big wagons loaded with school children, all dressed in white, and by a squadron of young men on horseback.

On reaching the church Father Hillebrand, accompanied by the Rev. Father Curran, pastor of Holy Trinity church, New Albany, and the Rev. Father Borries, assistant pastor of St. Mary's, New Albany, entered, and after a short prayer and hymn of thanksgiving the returned traveler made a short address. His parishioners all went home glad to know that their pastor was again in their midst. The day of home coming was concluded with a wholesome spread served to Father Hillebrand, his reverend visitors and the trustees of the church.

ENTERS CONVENT.

Miss Elizabeth Glynn, well known in Catholic circles, has entered the novitiate of the Sisters of Mercy at their convent on East Broadway. She came to Louisville from Boston several years ago and at once took an active interest in local Catholic charitable affairs. Miss Glynn was employed setting type in several of the local printing offices after her arrival and later as proof reader in one of the largest publishing houses in the city. She was one of the first to suggest practical plans for the establishment of the Catholic Woman's Club. Her many friends wish her a happy life in the convent.

NOT AFRAID.

John J. Flynn, general foreman of the Louisville & Nashville railroad shops at New Orleans, has been spending two weeks in Louisville with his family. To a representative of the Kentucky Irish American Mr. Flynn said: "There is not nearly the scare or panic in New Orleans that you would believe from reading the papers. Any man who keeps his system in good condition need not fear it. I would not walk across the street for fear of it. I am going back this month and I hope I will hear the last of the yellow fever scare."

GREAT SORROW

Expressed Over the Death of Ignatius N. Vetter, the Labor Leader.

Ignatius N. Vetter, Superintendent of the Louisville work-house and well known in political, fraternal, labor union and Catholic circles, died at St. Joseph's Infirmary at 7:20 o'clock Sunday morning, following an operation for appendicitis. His wife and son, John Vetter, were with him when the end came.

Mr. Vetter was born in Germany sixty-two years ago. He came to America with his parents when only six years old. The parents died soon after coming to America, and the boy was left to the care of an uncle, with whom he learned the trade of saddle and harness-maker. After some years spent as a journeyman he embarked in business as senior member of the firm of Vetter & Schultz and for some time conducted a collar factory on East Market street. Later he became foreman for Harbison & Gathright, but when the strike came in 1881 Mr. Vetter walked out with his men. He was always an ardent union man and his prestige as a labor leader forced him into political prominence, so that in the same year he was elected Bailiff of the Police Court by a majority of 10,000. He served two terms, all that the law permitted, and then retired to enter the wholesale whisky business. Several years later he was again elected Bailiff and held the place for several terms. Eight years ago he was defeated for the nomination by William Bosler, now the incumbent. In 1897 he was appointed Superintendent of the work-house and filled the place with so much credit that he was appointed in 1901 by Mayor Grainger, and was holding the position at the time of his death. Mr. Vetter married Miss Agnes Bright thirty-six years ago. She, with one son, John A. Vetter, the Fifth-street haberdasher, survive him. He is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Mary Schuler and Mrs. Ben Gilman, and a brother, Ben Vetter, all of Louisville. He was a brother-in-law of Lieut. Edward Bright, of the Louisville police force.

The funeral took place from the Cathedral of the Assumption on Tuesday morning. The deceased was a member of the Catholic Knights of America, of the Red Men and also of the Harness-makers' Union. Universal sorrow was expressed over the sudden death of one who was held in such high esteem.

CLASS OF SIXTY

Will Pass Under the New Ritual of Mackin Council on October 1.

Mackin Council, Y. M. I., decided Tuesday night to hold the next initiation on October 1, when a class of sixty will pass through the new ritual and receive the four degrees. This will be an important event and will clear the way by which it is expected to bring the membership up to 600. When this number has been reached it is probable that the initiation fee will be increased to $25 or $50 and the death benefit made $250. Frank Lanahan and John Farrell are the respective leaders and will be assisted by the entire membership. Young men who would join a splendid Catholic society should not delay sending in their applications. Besides transacting the usual business one new member was elected and an application received. The Visiting Committee reported Messrs. Joe Heckman and Jacob Heinrich still on the sick list but progressing toward recovery.

ENCOURAGED.

Catholic Knights Hold a Nice Meeting and Exemplify Ritual.

The officers and members of Branch 25, Catholic Knights of America, held a nice meeting Monday night at St. John's Hall and were greatly encouraged by the reports received and the remarks delivered by William T. Meehan, E. J. Mann, State Secretary Martin and others. Quite a number pledged themselves to a united effort to secure new members and bring this good old branch into the front rank.

For the first time the new ritual adopted by the Supreme Council was exemplified, the degrees being conferred upon W. H. Grimes. The work of the team was most satisfactory, and is sure to make future meetings interesting. Much time and labor was given to the compilation of the ritual, which will prove both edifying and instructive and should prove of great benefit to the order.

FIRST DANCE.

The Eccentric Dancing Club will give its first dance at Ostrader's Hall on Monday, October 9. The club is made up of popular young men of the West End, and their dances are bound to be successful.

TRIBUTE

To Hon. John Redmond by a Noted English Thinker and Reviewer.

Says the Irish Parliamentary Leader Is Fit Timber For Prime Minister.

W. T. Stead Writes About the New Parliament to Be Elected.

COLLEAGUES OF THE IRISH LEADER

W. T. Stead, one of England's foremost thinkers and editors and for years her greatest reviewer, pays high tribute to the integrity and worth of the Hon. John Redmond, leader of the Irish Parliamentary party. It was Editor Stead who brought to light the baccarat scandals and who convulsed the vitals of London society with his revelations regarding the nefarious traffic in the ruin of young and innocent girls that was being conducted for the sake of the young men of England's aristocracy. Every utterance of Stead was proven and the titled English love him like the devil loves holy water. In part we quote from Mr. Stead's article on Mr. Redmond:

While many things are doubtful about the Parliament that is soon to be elected, two things are certain. One is that the Unionists will be in a minority in the next House of Commons. The other is that the Nationalist Irishmen will come back as strong as they have ever been; that is to say, they will be in a majority of more than five to one over all other Irishmen in the House. And of these four-score stout-hearted men John Redmond is the fighting chief. His undisputed supremacy is emphasized rather than impaired by the solitary howl of "Tiger Tim," the outcast orator, the discredited Thersites who roam outside the camp.

If only the Irish had not been forced by a thousand years of wrong into an attitude of irreconcilable opposition to the British empire and the Government thereof, Mr. Redmond would have had a better chance than most men to be Prime Minister. He has the qualities for the post. He is a gentleman. He is the greatest of our modern parliamentarians. He is an admirable debater, a superb leader, a man of dispassionate intellect, of sound sympathies and of splendid courage. And he has around him a group of colleagues half a dozen of whom would grace any cabinet.

Fortunately no self-denying ordinance forbids an Irish Nationalist leading the opposition, and it will be long remembered, to Mr. Redmond's credit, that from 1900-02 it was he and no other who was the real leader of the only opposition offered to the Government on the subject of the war in South Africa. In those black years he proved himself to be not only the chief of the Irish National party, but the leader of the only effective opposition that existed in the House of Commons at that time. In that position he occupied a place only second in importance to that of the Prime Minister. It is true that at the time national prejudices somewhat obscured the truth from the English and Scotch. But in the House of Commons the members in 1900 began to realize where the center of power lay. Repeatedly, in the course of the debates, Mr. Balfour referred to Mr. Redmond as if he, and not Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, were the real leader of his Majesty's opposition. Therein Mr. Balfour paid homage to facts.

In the midst of the debris of the shattered party which then littered the Liberal benches in the House of Commons we should have looked in vain for any leadership had it not been for the presence of Mr. Redmond at the head of the Irish Nationalists. Here, at least, we had an organized, disciplined party, obedient to its leader, undistracted by any internal feuds, thoroughly united in principle and capable of constant attendance at the House. English, Scotch and Welsh Liberals in the constituencies who were sick and sore at heart over the spectacle of paralytic impotence presented by the disorganized and distracted ranks of their own representatives, began to recognize in Mr. Redmond the only leader of a parliamentary party in the House, who, upon the great issue of the hour, represented their views and was not afraid of giving them free, full and bold expression in debate. Hence, while nominally only the leader of the Irish National party, Mr. Redmond was really at that time the only leader of the opposition to the Government in the country.

Let no one imagine from this tribute that John Redmond is other than a grim, irreconcilable Irish fighter, as staunch as in the days of yore, when he fought for the lost cause of Mr. Parnell against overwhelming odds. It would be difficult to phrase more ruthlessly the Irish intransigents' point of view than did Mr. Redmond when, addressing a mass meeting at Maryborough, he made the following significant declaration:

"His guiding principle in life was perfectly simple. He had no faith in any English political party or in English benevolence toward Ireland or in the possibility of any of the population getting justice in the smallest particular from mere reason, or argument, or persuasion. His policy was to make English government in Ireland difficult and dangerous. If the people wanted any instalment of justice they must make themselves a trouble and a danger to the Government."

Mr. John Redmond is the first Irish leader who has given the world any token of the possession of the qualities which made Mr. Parnell so famous. It is true that his position is largely due to Mr. Dillon. But he is fortunate in having in Mr. Dillon a colleague who was, in other days, sufficiently self-sacrificing to allow no personal feelings to stand in the way of attaining the great object which he had set before him.

Mr. Redmond is a politician first, a politician second and a politician third. As an individual entity he is almost unknown to any except his intimates. But he has brought keen intelligence to the study of the science of politics. He has given his mind to it and spent days and nights in acquiring knowledge of all the niceties and rules of parliamentary procedure.

He is embarrassed by no fear of mutinies in the rear and he is conscious of being armed with the mandate of the Irish race. As a speaker he is effective, fluent and eloquent.

HAPPY NIGHT

And Some Pleading Surprises Arranged For the Local Hibernians.

Division 1 of the Ancient Order of Hibernians has for several weeks been arranging for the reunion and reception to be given the Falls City members of that order at their hall in the Hopkins Theater building next Tuesday night, and all indications point to a large and happy gathering. The divisions of Louisville, New Albany and Jeffersonville have all been invited to be present. The programme will include short addresses, vocal and instrumental music and an abundance of choice refreshments. Members of the committee having charge of the affair have left nothing undone that would contribute to its success, and they promise a surprise that will arouse enthusiasm in the breast of every Hibernian in this section. Those who fail to respond to the invitation that has been tendered them will miss an enjoyable treat.

RECENT DEATHS.

The many friends of Mrs. George Evers were deeply pained when they learned of her death Tuesday afternoon. She was a lady of many Christian virtues, a kind of heart and always ready to assist her neighbors. Her funeral took place Thursday morning from St. Peter's and was largely attended.

Dread pneumonia caused the death of Mrs. Mary Shelley, of 1305 Sixteenth street, at an early hour Wednesday morning. She was the widow of James Shelley, and is survived by one son and one daughter. Mrs. Shelley was a member of the Sacred Heart church, where the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Father Walsh.

We regret to chronicle the death of Michael C. Lanahan, which occurred Sunday evening at his home, 1318 Hull street. For years he had resided in the East End, well known and highly respected. For the bereaved wife there is the most sincere sympathy. The funeral occurred Tuesday morning, with a solemn mass of requiem at St. Aloysius' church.

The funeral of James M. Burke, who was accidentally killed in the railroad yards at South Louisville last Monday afternoon, took place Wednesday morning from the Dominican church. Deceased was a steady and industrious young man, liked and respected by his superiors and fellow-workmen, and his untimely death is a crushing blow to the aged father and other members of the family.

Mrs. Mary Score, the venerable mother of John Score, died Monday afternoon at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Martha Furlong, 911 East Market street. She was one of the older residents of this city and was held in high esteem by all who knew her. Mrs. Score had been in failing health for some time and her death was not altogether unexpected. Her funeral took place Wednesday afternoon and the interment was in Cave Hill.

Frank Collins passed to his eternal reward Sunday night at his home, 1508 Payne street, leaving a wife and three small children to mourn his loss. He was the son of Mrs. Marie Collins, who lies seriously ill at her home on Twelfth street, and a brother of James Collins. Until stricken several months ago he was with the American Laundry Company, and was well known all over the city. The funeral took place from St. Bridget's church, and the esteem in which he was held was attested by the large number that attended the solemn services.

LANDS THE PRIZE.

Will J. Norton, Jr., has been awarded the Y. M. C. A. membership prize offered the boy with the best record on the Central Park recreation grounds. Willie is a Catholic boy and a little gentleman, and his parents and friends are rejoiced over his victory, which was won only after a long contest with a large number of boys.

ORIGIN

Of the Music of Yankee Doodle Traced to Old Irish Melody.

Many Fictitious Legends Regarding History of the Stirring Tune.

President Roosevelt Declares Garryowen One of Finest Marching Airs.

ENGLAND CLAIMS MANY IRISH TUNES

Although a half a dozen authors have dealt with the subject of "Yankee Doodle"—its etymology, early history and development as the national tune of America—not one of them has even hinted at the Irish origin of the "catchy" melody which was first heard in Albany one hundred and fifty years ago. Perhaps it is equally remarkable that the Irish origin of the "Constitution and the Guerriere," so popular in America in 1812, has not only been ignored, but has been incorrectly claimed by Louis C. Elson as an adaptation of a "fine old English melody," whereas the tune was printed in Irish in 1775 and again in Brysson's "Curious Selection of Fifty Airs," in 1791. No apology is therefore needed for the present article in which I venture to vindicate Ireland's claims to a tune which, though "not a treasure of the highest value," as Hon. Stephen Salisbury says, "is national property."

Dismissing as pure fiction the oft-repeated legends that would fain assign as Indian, Hungarian, Dutch, Persian, Lancastrian (Lancashire) or Norwegian origin to the silly words which were set to the melody, it may also be well to dismiss the theory that Oliver Cromwell was the original "Yankee Doodle"—an absurdity that is best proved from the occurrence of the word "Macaroni," a term that only came in about the year 1750. Not less apocryphal is the theory that the song was evolved from "a popular ballad in the time of King Charles II.," apropos of Lucy Locket and Kitty Fisher, a statement which can at once be disproved by the fact that Lucy Locket was one of the dramatic personae in the Beggar's Opera (1728) and that Kitty Fisher was a reigning trash in 1750. But, most extraordinary of all, the tune has been claimed as a Dutch folk-tune, a claim which has been justly regarded as more or less of a hoax. In this case it is not a little remarkable that an old seventeenth century Irish melody, "I am asleep and don't waken me," appears in a Dutch music book under the name of Madhyn Bugeeven, as if it were an ancient folk-tune of Holland.

It is not agreed that the word "Yankee" from being a cant word or a slang adjective to denominate the superlative degree, e. g., a yankee team, a yankee horse, a yankee rider, etc., expressive of excellence—and which term can be traced as far back as the year 1712—generated into a term of reproach or an antiphrastic phrase, meaning a simple, awkward person and ultimately was applied in general to New Englanders.

And just as the fabricators of Round-head or a Restoration origin for the words of "Yankee Doodle" have been completely exposed even from internal evidence, so also the origin of the melody as English can be disproved by an investigation of facts. After disposing of the four English clauses on the national air, the writer concludes:

And now to the Irish origin of the tune. The earliest printed version appears in a volume published at Glasgow in 1782. This volume is entitled: "A Selection of Scotch, English, Irish and Foreign Airs. Printed and sold by James Aird," and is Vol. I., containing 200 tunes. Although not dated, it certainly appeared in 1782, and was followed by five other volumes. It is a very interesting collection and I find it especially so as containing the earliest "printed" versions of quite a dozen Irish airs.

The very structure of this tune is seen to be decidedly Irish and apart from any argument, intrinsic evidence should point to its Irish origin. Other airs of the same period, like "Ally Croker," "The Rakes of Mallow," "The Pretty Girl of Derby," have been claimed as English, though unquestionably Irish, and there is not a shadow of doubt as to the English annexation of numerous Irish airs of the Jacobite period. Even recent collections include "The Arctura" and "Nancy Dawson" as "old English airs," in sublime disregard of their unquestionably Irish origin.

The printed version of Aird in 1782 antedates the "Two to One" (1784) version by two years, and is much nearer the Irish original, with strongly marked C natural (the so-called "flat seventh") so characteristic of seventh century Irish tunes in D major. However, the oldest form of the tune is also given here, as it appears in a MS. dated 1750, the authenticity of which is beyond question. The manuscript was written at different times between the years 1749 and 1750, and the owner's name is given, dated December 1, 1750.

Thus "Yankee Doodle" can rightly be claimed as a product of Ireland and is an illustration of the vitality of Erin's folk-music. It is of interest to add that "Jefferson and Liberty," 1801, was originally set to Irish melody, but was afterward, in 1813, adapted to the air of "Anacron in Heaven"—an air that is now inseparably associated with Francis Scott Key's "Star Spangled Banner."

In conclusion it may not be amiss to point out that President Roosevelt considers the melody of "Garryowen" as "one of the finest marching tunes in the world." This Irish melody is of about the same date as "Yankee Doodle," though the song was not written to it until 1774 or 1775, and it was printed with the music, by Heine of Dublin, in 1797—being subsequently utilized by Tom Moore in his "Irish Melodies."

BARTH CLUBS

Organizing and Holding Meetings in All Parts of the City.

With each day the feeling that the Democratic ticket should win in the approaching municipal election increases, and the only question is how large will be the majority he for Hon. Paul Barth for Mayor. Barth clubs are being formed nightly in all parts of the city and the enthusiasm manifested is unbounded. Monday night in the Twelfth ward a large meeting was addressed by Emmet Slattery, Judge Charles Wilson, William Semonin and others, when nearly 400 voters pledged themselves for the ticket. The Gibraltar Club also held a fine meeting the same evening and added many new names to its roster. This club will have a big shoot lunch for its 300 members on the next meeting night, on October 2.

Tuesday evening the voters of the Third ward had a monster Barth rally and banner raising at Hancock and Green streets. The Third Ward Club is working with a vim and expects to be one of the largest organizations in the city before election day.

There was an immense turn-out of West End voters at Pfister's Hall, Twenty-fifth and Market streets, Thursday night, to hear Hon. Paul Barth, Robert W. Bingham and Joseph Hufaker. This meeting was held under the auspices of the Twelfth Ward Club and so large was the attendance that hundreds could not gain admission. Over 1,000 have signed cards to vote the straight Democratic ticket, many of the number being Republicans.

In Limerick, Germantown, up in the Highlands, out in South Louisville and up on the Point voters are awakening to the importance of this election, which if held tomorrow would result in an overwhelming majority for the Democratic standard-bearer.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Blind Man Saves His Family From Death by Fire Tuesday.

Michael J. McCarthy, the well known dealer in pianos and sewing machines at 1108 West Market street, displayed great presence of mind at an early hour Tuesday morning, but for which there might have been an awful catastrophe and the death of his wife and children by fire. The family have living rooms in the rear of the store, and shortly after 3 o'clock Mrs. McCarthy was awakened by the cries of her baby. Startled to find the bedroom nearly filled with smoke and the flames making their way to the store-room, her screams awakened the sleeping husband and children. When help arrived escape was impossible through the front door. Mr. McCarthy, who is blind, never lost his presence of mind, but called the rescuers to the rear, where there was a small window twelve feet from the ground. Mounting a chair, he passed his wife and six children through the small opening to those on the outside building. Meantime the fire department arrived and did excellent work. The fire originated among some rags in the workroom and the loss will amount to about $1,000.

DEEP GASH.

Philip Connell, the bright little son of Officer Tom Connell, who was thought to be seriously hurt, has almost recovered from the effects of his injuries. A number of boys are in the habit of congregating at Sixteenth and Walnut streets and throwing dirt and rocks, and while crossing the street at that point young Connell was struck in the head with a stone and rendered unconscious. He was at once removed to his home, a few doors above, where it was discovered that he had sustained a long and deep gash that just missed fracturing the skull. The habit of boys throwing missiles in the streets is dangerous and parents ought to warn their children against it.

BASE BALL.

The Satolli base ball team will play the Unity team of New Albany tomorrow afternoon at Dittmeir's Park, Twenty-second and Garland avenue. The Satolli have not been defeated this season, and Manager Crotty is confident of taking the scalps of the Unity team. These teams have been rivals for some time and were to play two weeks ago, but had to postpone the game on account of the wet grounds. A good game is promised those who attend. Play will be called at 3:30 o'clock. The following players are requested to report at Satolli club rooms, Sixth and Breckenridge, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock: Obrecht, Jones, Perry, Kilcourse, B. Imode, W. Imode, Mattingly, Brown and Pope.

PLANNING.

Divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians Are Desirous of Owning Halls.

Many Believe It Will Be a Good Investment and Will Encourage Thrift.

Utica Hibernians Expect to Put Up a Handsome Building Very Soon.

PUSH AND NERVE ARE REQUIRED

It will be readily admitted on all sides that the man who owns his own home is far more independent than the man who pays rent. The former has no rent-day to meet and he is not annoyed by the petty tyrannies of landlords, who often look askance at his children and sometimes even grudge them the right to exist with any degree of freedom, says the editor of the National Hibernian.

The house-owner, moreover, is more firmly rooted to the place in which he lives, and he takes a deeper interest in all that goes on around him, which results in the benefit of his neighbors as well as his own. He is more independent in every way than the casual lodger or rent payer, and if a rainy day overtakes him, if he is sick or out of work or otherwise temporarily incapacitated, he need not fear the embarrassment of eviction or the sudden wrecking of his home. He has more time to look about him, more resources to draw upon, more independence and cheerfulness of spirit, and consequently is better able to tide himself over any misfortune that may befall him.

And as this is the case with the individual, so it must also be with a number of individuals who may band themselves together in an organization like our own. The benefit to the organization will be even greater than to the individual, because its undertaking will be more extensive, its income greater and its expenses, as a whole, less.

This idea has already been successfully worked out in Worcester, Mass., Wilmington, Del., and many other places, where our order owns halls, and we rejoice to find a tendency throughout the country to develop it more and more. To our minds nothing can be more beneficial to the interests of our order than the acquirement of real estate and the erection and ownership of its own meeting places and club rooms. All the advantages which we have cited in favor of individual ownership will apply in increased ratio to the organization.

Learning that Division 6 of Utica, N. Y., is at present engaged, single handed and without outside aid, in the laudable work of erecting its own home, we wrote for information as to its plans and mode of procedure and received in reply a letter from the Chairman of the Building Committee, in which he submitted a plan as follows: Let each member of a division subscribe $10, some more, others less, according to their means. In nearly every case this will be sufficient to purchase a site. When that is accomplished let every division in the State subscribe another $10. In New York there are 180 divisions, which would mean $1,800. After that the balance could be borrowed on bond or mortgage. The Utica building will cost between $12,000 and $13,000, but the members expect it to net them from $800 to $1,000 a year after its completion.

This is a simple programme, but it is bound to be successful if it is carried out, as Brother Cobb suggests, with unanimity and determination. It may be hard, at first sight, to ask some of our members to subscribe the sum of $10, but if the payment is extended over a year it will not be such a burden as it looks. Moreover, if the project is entrusted to careful hands, carried out on business principles and made entirely independent of all other financial transactions, it is bound to be not only a saving, but a source of income to each division in the end.

Ten years hence the Utica division, for instance, will own its own hall and it will have paid for itself by its own earnings, while it will then be worth nearly double its present cost, if due care is given to the selection of a site. This worthy example set by our patriotic brothers in Utica should be followed wherever possible. We shall deem it our duty to lend all the encouragement in our power to such excellent projects, and hope in the near future to be able to report encouraging progress in the building of our own halls and institutes.

GREEN SOD CLUB.

The Green Sod Club gave a stag social at the home of Gus Wilberding, 9 East Oak street, Sunday afternoon and evening. The affair was held in honor of the President of the club, J. M. Kern. Refreshments and supper were served and music was furnished by Wilberding's band. A special feature of the evening was the singing of Henry Adams. Those present were J. M. Kern, A. A. Ashcroft, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Wilberding, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Knopf, Mrs. George Heck, Mr. and Mrs. L. Wilberding, Mr. and Mrs. L. and John Freid.

ON DECK AGAIN.

It is easy to see that the Rev. Father Cronin, editor of the Catholic Union and Times, of Buffalo, is back at his desk. Listen to this: We admire the German Kaiser. He is a pure, religious, just, brave and able man. He first showed his manliness when he dethroned from the acme of power the able but fatal tyrant Bismarck. He is a fearless man and the lessons he teaches his sons on the day of their coronation might be preached from any Catholic pulpit in the world. He has just told the Catholic Poles in his empire that he honors their religion and respects themselves as faithful subjects. He knows and despises England for her perfidy and meanness, and is long for the day when he will measure swords with that generous nation. O, your Majesties should that day ever dawn, make for Ireland as your base. Don't make the mistake of the First Napoleon, which he regretted to last on the solitary island amid moaning sea. "Ah," he sighed, "I should have gone to Ireland instead of going to Egypt." Yes, Majesty, in case of war with England your men-of-war. Then what remains of the martyred race will greet you—be all transmogrified, in fact, into Germans; help you to spear to death the omnivorous old lion that has so long swindled and devoured the nations, and give them a chance to take vengeance at last for all the unutterable wrongs of the dread centuries.

Several months ago Father Cronin was thrown violently to the ground from the step of an electric car, and for a time his condition was quite serious. The hard bump he received does not appear to have increased his love for England nor has it affected his vigorous vocabulary.

NEEDS A SEPARATOR.

Lewis N. Dembitz, one of the Fusion nominees, is busy these days writing cards addressed to Paul C. Barth, the Democratic nominee for Mayor. Mr. Dembitz is noted for his absence of mind, and probably that is the best way to account for the fact that he writes practically the same card and asking the same question each day. He is an expert on tax law and has a wonderful fund of information on things in general, but his advisers should see that he is equipped with a mental separator in order that he may not get his ideas mixed.

TOO LAVISH.

The Rev. Father D. S. Phelan, of St. Louis, editor of the Western Watchman and the Nestor of the Catholic press of the United States, in writing of his audience with his Holiness, Pope Pius X., has this to say: "The Holy Father recognizes that the most effectual work done in the church today is done by the Catholic journal. In the past hundred years the pulpit has been simply smothered in a babel of discordant, strident, tempestuous incrimination. The slanders of the few infidel thinkers of a century ago have been given millions of tongues and the edifying echoes have created a religious pandemonium. The Catholic press appeared upon the scene and abyss answered abyss, until the voice of truth now rings out louder and clearer and with challenging note in every tone that tells of victory and the peace that the sword of truth has won. The guns of the Catholic press are now shelling the hills and woods and defiles where the enemy formerly lurked, and there is no reply, or a faint and desultory one, to their whistling missiles."

This eulogy almost makes any editor of a Catholic newspaper rise up and sing: "Come take a trip in my air ship." But is not this eulogy a little vainglorious? The Catholic press, or the majority of Catholic editors, are willing to concede that the clergy have done something for Catholicity. The Lord knows Catholic editors need encouragement, but may He save us from flattery that is no more than sounding brass and tinkling cymbals—to be heard today and forgotten tomorrow.

Acting in accordance with a recommendation of Bishop O'Connor, of Newark, the diocesan school board has decided to adopt a more general use of the teaching of Irish history in the parochial schools attended by pupils of Irish descent and will not be included in the curriculum of the Italian or other foreign speaking children. It might be well for Hibernians all over this country to agitate this matter. Nothing so much as a study of history instills patriotism in the human breast. If our children study the history of Ireland they will learn why their forefathers left the Isle of Saints, and under what circumstances they found a haven of rest in the "Land of the free and the home of the brave." It will make them better Irishmen and better Americans.

The Louisville Board of Fire Underwriters pay the local fire department a high compliment in their last report. A special committee appointed to investigate local conditions and report to the full board finds only words of praise for Chief Tyson and the department, which is looked upon as the equal if not superior to any in the United States.

It is better that fraternal insurance societies have rates that will enable them to pay the insurance promised, and to keep this up indefinitely, than to have rates that seem cheap but that inevitably lead straight to bankruptcy.

WHAT IS BROGUE?

As to the mispronunciation of certain English words, sometimes ridiculed as "Irish brogue," a writer in an Irish paper thus explains, says the New York Freeman:

"I mean by mispronunciation the saying of 'plays' instead of 'please,' 'kays' instead of 'keys,' and so on. This mispronunciation is due to more causes than people imagine and is not so much an error as people think, either. Formerly many English words—'tea,' for example—were pronounced in England just as the Irishman with the 'brogue' now pronounces them ('tea' being pronounced 'tay'). Others were pronounced according to the phonetic laws of the Irish language—'thrapp' instead of 'trap,' 'thrasoon' instead of 'treason' and so on."

So that the "brogue" actually spoken in Ireland—not the fabricated stuff of the British and American "comic" papers—is nothing more nor less than what was once correctly spoken English or correct form on the standard of the native Irish tongue.

FAMILY DISSENSIONS.

Dissension in families often rises from a lack of humility and too much presumption on the part of the different members of the family. "The soft answer that turneth away wrath" is forgotten for the hasty reply, the unkind retorts that kindle the fire of ill-feeling, and are the outcome of disorderly minds which are prone to resentment on account of lacking in the gentle grace of humility. Love does not linger in the home where petty pride shows its unlovely qualities. It chooses to dwell in the home where the spirit of unselfishness, of self-control, of thoughtfulness and of charityless makes the atmosphere sweet.

HOME TRAINING.

The man who brings up his boys to be honorable men does more for society than he who makes a law or frames a plank in the platform. And the woman who rears her girls in maidenly modesty advances the cause of morality far more than she who leads a woman's club pell mell against some notorious political offense or offender. It is an undeniable symptom of our time that the duty of home training is being neglected for the more spectacular functions of social and semi-political life.

STUDY YOUR STYLE.

An old sage who understood human nature pretty well advises women in the terse language of the day to "study first the effect produced by the face, the hair and the headgear." It holds good now just the same as it did more than a hundred years ago. It is wise to study the points of the face. The low style of dressing the hair is supposed to show off the profile to advantage. In some women a touch of color lights up the complexion wonderfully, while others are better without. The point is to learn what suits you.

FATHER WARD RECTOR.

The Very Rev. Father Felix Ward, C. P., has been appointed rector of the Passionist house in Baltimore. Father Ward, who is well and favorably known in Louisville, has just completed a term as Provincial of the Passionist order in the United States. It was with great joy that he was relieved of the pressing cares and duties of Provincial.

WHY IRISHMEN DON'T MARRY.

Several interesting letters on the subject, "Why Young Irishmen Don't Marry," have been appearing in the columns of a Wexford paper.

The letter of "Colleen" on the subject urges girls to do their best to become good housewives. Above all they should make their homes thoroughly Irish, "and when we combine all the comeliness, sweetness and demure gravity with which kind old Mother Nature has endowed women of other races for generations, we shall be able to coax them to take us 'for better or worse.' They will then, the writer says, gradually lose the sordid selfishness which seems now to be growing on them, and Irish women will not have to go outside of their race for husbands, as they are noted for doing at present.

Spices should permeate foods as incense does the atmosphere, delicate, impalpable and as indescribable as they are requisite.

Mildew stains can be removed by applying a mixture of lemon juice, salt, powdered borax and soft soap. Put the garment in the sun until dry.

SONG IN STORM.

A storm is raging high,
And a little bird in a tree,
Heedless of darkened sky,
Carols songs of glee.

Loud thunder bolts crashing,
Hard pouring down rain,
Lightning vividly flashing,
Hush not the sweet refrain.

When tempest-tossed around,
Sing cheerily all the while;
If the heart with music abound,
Heaven will sweetly smile.

KATHLEEN DON DRAVY.

Misses Ida and Mayme Murphy, popular New Albany girls, were this week the guests of their cousin at Indianapolis.

D. J. Coleman was among the number from this city who spent the week at Lexington and attended the State Fair.

Miss Elsie A. Gast left Monday for Springfield, where she will enter the Sisters' academy and complete her education.

Misses Beezie and Nellie Hannon, who spent the summer visiting the larger cities of Ireland and France, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyble Mapother and little daughter Helen have returned to Louisville from Bellewood, where they spent the summer.

Miss Nora Wales, of South Louisville, has returned from a pleasant visit to Seymour, Ind., where she was extensively entertained.

Miss Elizabeth Clark, a favorite in St. Louis society circles, is the charming guest of Misses Lee and Katherine McCusky, 1708 Brook street.

Miss Anita Maldoon will remain several weeks longer at the sanitarium at Danville N. Y., whither she went on account of impaired health.

Miss Sarah McBarron left Sunday for her home in Evansville, after spending two months as the guest of her mother, Mrs. Catherine McBarron, in New Albany.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Root have returned from a pleasant visit to Chicago, where they were shown much social attention and honored with a number of receptions.

Miss Nora Baker and Master Julian McBarron have returned to their home in Newport, after a pleasant visit of a week with Mrs. Andrew McBarron in New Albany.

John Lutkemeier and William Oberman, of Frankfort, spent several days here this week, and Monday night were the guests of the Mackin Social Club at the initial dance.

Misses Lucille and Edith O'Brien and Miss Kathleen Jennings, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Conn in the country for the past ten days, will return home next week.

The many friends of Miss Myra McAttee, of 516 West Oak street, will be glad to learn that she is convalescent after a severe illness of typhoid fever. She is now able to sit up and receive her friends.

Miss Amelia Schulteis, who has been spending the summer here as the guest of her sister, Mrs. F. B. Horstman, will leave next Tuesday for her home at Jasper, Ind. During her stay she made a host of friends who will be pleased when she makes them another visit.

The marriage of Thomas D. Clines and Miss Mary Higgins was solemnized Thursday morning at the Sacred Heart church in the presence of a large gathering of friends. After the wedding breakfast the happy couple left for a three weeks' honeymoon trip to New York.

The many friends of Andrew Gerulein, Jr., of 1404 West Walnut street, will be glad to learn that he is not as seriously burned as was reported in the daily papers. His injuries consist only of slight burns on one hand, and will in nowise interfere with his attention to business.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Maguire, who have been spending a pleasant week as the guests of Mrs. James Couchman, 2200 Fourth avenue, will leave tomorrow for their home in Lexington. They were former residents of this city, and this was their first visit home since their marriage in the early part of the year.

Albert M. Fendel, a well known young man of Owensboro and prominent in Catholic society circles, left for his home last night, after spending a most enjoyable week with friends and relatives. Monday night he was the guest of the Mackin Social Club and during the week his friends showed him all over the city.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kilkenny were pleasantly surprised Monday evening at their home on Oak street, a large number of their friends calling to celebrate their tin wedding. Music and dancing furnished the evening's entertainment until the amiable hostess invited all to partake of an elegant luncheon served in tins.

Miss Catherine Tennis, Secretary of the Y. M. I. Ladies' Auxiliary of Owensboro and organist of St. John's church, arrived in Louisville Monday night from Cincinnati, where she spent a week with friends. Miss Tennis returned to her home last evening after having been the guest of Miss Mary Holzkecht, Sixteenth street.

Mrs. Dan Haager and Mrs. R. Graves and daughter Hazel have returned from a most enjoyable visit to Cincinnati, where they received much social attention. Besides being tendered a jolly Dutch supper by Mr. and Mrs. Vonderheid several parties were given in their honor. They also enjoyed a pleasant trolley ride over the Queen City as guests of Mrs. Rose Regan and Mrs. C. Jackson.

Invitations have been issued for the marriage of Will E. Horan and Miss Anna Walsh, which will be solemnized Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament. The bride-elect is the lovely and popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Walsh and has been greatly admired in her circle for her many amiable traits of character. Will Horan is a well known and popular young man and has a legion of friends who wish him a long and happy married life.

One of the prettiest of the autumn weddings was that of William F. Whalen and Miss Mary C. Donlon, solemnized Tuesday afternoon at the Cathedral. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Schumann and was witnessed by a large gathering of friends and relatives. The groom has for years been associated with Edward J. O'Brien in the tobacco trade and is one of the most popular young men on Main street. The bride is a pretty and accomplished young woman and a favorite among her wide circle of acquaintances. After the marriage the happy couple were showered with congratulations and were the recipients of many handsome and costly presents.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season will take place at St. John's church, Clay and Walnut streets, on Wednesday, when Miss Mary Caroline Waltring and John L. Martin will be united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The ushers will be Messrs. Adam C. Spieth, Edward J. Dalton, Arthur L. Martin and Michael J. Schmitt. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Martin will leave for Chicago on a bridal tour. On their return they will be at home to their friends at 915 East Washington street. The bride is a handsome and popular young lady. The groom is an employee of the Hopkins Theater. Both have many friends who wish them many happy years of wedded life.

A surprise granite shower was given Miss Carrie Woltring by a number of her friends at the home of Miss Florence Hallinan, 1508 Seventh street, Monday evening. Hallinan. Miss Woltring is to be the bride of John L. Martin on Wednesday. She received many handsome presents during the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis J. Heffernan entertained a number of their friends last Friday night with a most delightful musicale and reception at their home on West Chestnut street. After the artistic rendition of several difficult solos by Miss Mary Murphy and Joseph Lex, the guests were treated to dainty refreshments, the remainder of the pleasant evening being devoted to dancing and other amusements. Among those present were Misses Mary Murphy, Miriam Smith, Florence Olges, Emma Miller, Brentlinger, Connors, Miller and Levi; Mesdames John Dyer, George Myers and Henry Olges; Messrs. Joe Lex, John Dyer, George Miller, John Smith, George Myers, Henry Olges, George Gorman, Hall, Whitehead, Fallis and William M. Higgins.

THEY ARE BUSY.

Barth Clubs are being organized all the city. The California Democratic Club will meet every Wednesday night until the election.

YOUNG PEOPLE DANCE.

The initial dance of the Mackin Social Club at the club house last Monday night was a pronounced social success and was greatly enjoyed by about 100 young couples. The series will continue during the winter season and should prove popular with the young people of the West End. Only those having invitations will be admitted. Monday night several visitors from out of town were present as special guests.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

Late News That Will Interest Members Here and Elsewhere.

A new council was instituted last Sunday at Defiance, Ohio.

Cincinnati Knights have decided to give two free public lectures during the coming winter.

An initiation of 100 candidates is projected for next month by the council at Columbus, Ohio.

The annual reception of Indianapolis Council is scheduled for Thanksgiving eve. Plans are being laid to make this affair the most elegant so far given.

Arrangements are being made in many of the large cities for the conferring of the fourth degree on Thanksgiving. One of these functions will take place at Faneuil Hall, Boston.

Greensburg, Ind., has a very flourishing council. The initiation of its first class last week was the occasion of a large gathering of Knights from many points. The three degrees were bestowed upon thirty-three candidates.

San Francisco Council is out for the national convention of 1906. The Santa Fe railroad intends to contribute $15,000 and the Southern Pacific $10,000 to the entertainment fund. It is estimated that $100,000 will be required for entertainment purposes, $25,000 of which will be spent for electrical illuminations and decorations.

GREAT SPORT

Is Being Enjoyed By Lovers of Horse Flesh at Jockey Club Park.

This is the seventh day of the fall races inaugurated by the New Louisville Jockey Club last Saturday. From the opening day to the present time everything has passed off harmoniously and in sportsmanlike manner. In fact many claim that the horses that have appeared here are superior to those offered last spring. While the crowds attending the fall races have not been as large as during the spring meeting, they have been spending crowds.

The features for the coming week, beginning this afternoon, will be the Galt House handicap, the fourth race today; the Old Inn handicap, Tuesday; the Willard Hotel handicap, Thursday; and the Frank Fehr handicap next Saturday. For those who like to see the jumpers there will be steeplechases on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Manager Matt J. Winn announces positively that the races will close on Saturday, October 6, as previously announced.

MACKIN'S INITIATION.

The degree team of Mackin Council met Sunday afternoon at the club house and went through a rehearsal for the presentation of the new ritual at the initiation, which takes place on October 1. The members have studied the parts faithfully and will give an impressive exemplification of this ritual, which will be used in Louisville for the first time. As Mackin has been making rapid strides in membership lately, she will have an unusually large class of candidates ready for the degrees.

HAPPY SURPRISES
For Rev. Father Sheridan on Occasion of His Silver Jubilee.

Thursday was the twenty-fifth anniversary of the ordination of the Rev.
John Sheridan, the zealous and beloved pastor of St. Michael's on Brook street, and was made the occasion of a happy
surprise on the part of priests and people.
Following the jubilee mass in the morning the children assembled with the Sisters in the school hall, when addresses were delivered and songs sung and the reverend gentleman presented a handsome purse of silver.
Just before noon two clergymen friends
kidnaped Father Sheridan for a carriage ride, while the ladies of the parish prepared an excellent banquet. On the return the reverend gentleman was astonished to find a number of his priest
friends awaiting him in the library,
among them being Fathers White, Walsh,
Raffo, Hugh Brady, Crane, Melody, Ohle, A. Brady and others. He was then invited, with his guests, to the banquet
table, gracefully presided over by Mesdames James McBride, Joe Rickelman, Ben Sandman and others, where a most enjoyable hour was spent.

In the evening the good father was given another surprise by the young ladies of the parish, who assembled at the rectory for the purpose of partaking
a bounteous supper and presenting a well filled purse, and wound up the day happily with song and laughter.

RIGHT IN LINE.
Division 3 Decides to Have a Big Anniversary Celebration.

Division 3, A. O. H., held a fairly well attended meeting Monday night in the Hopkins Theater building, when another application was received and arrangements perfected for the initiation of a large class of candidates at the next meeting. The invitation from Division 1 to attend the reunion Tuesday night
was accepted, after which the members
listened to a fine address by John Hessian. Attention was called to the fact that the twenty-first anniversary of Division 3 would occur October 16, and after a number of short talks reviewing the good deeds of the members during that time it was decided to observe the event
in a fitting manner. Chairman Patrick
T. Sullivan and the Literary Committee were instructed to prepare a programme
to be submitted at the meeting to be held October 2. Division 3 has been making great strides during the past two years,
and it is safe to predict the anniversary celebration will be conducted on an elaborate scale.

ALMOST READY.
Few Finishing Touches Remain to Be Put on St.
Augustine's.

Everything is progressing toward the completion of the new church of St.
Augustine, Jeffersonville, and that edifice
will be formally dedicated on the morning of Sunday, October 1. The Right
Rev. Bishop Chastard, of Indianapolis, will officiate. About all that remains to complete the three altars. These will be ready within the required time. Handsome and comfortable pews and confessionals, ornately carved, have been installed. The structure bespeaks the Spanish-Renaissance style of architecture. Concrete walks have been constructed around the church and rectory.
The new church will take the place of the one destroyed by fire in December, 1803. It is a credit to the Rev. Father O'Connell and his parishioners, who have worked hard to make its completion possible.

SILVER JUBILEE.
Sister Margaret Mary, Directress of Studies at the Academy of Our Lady of Mercy, on East Broadway, will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary as a member of the order next week. Tomorrow
the celebration will be for the Sisters alone. High mass will be celebrated at 9 o'clock. On Tuesday the alumnae will celebrate. Like the Sisters, they will have a high mass at 9 o'clock, and this will be followed by an all day reception.

NEW Y. M. I. COUNCIL.
Sarto Council, Y. M. I., will officiate at the institution of a new council at Knottsville, Daviess county, tomorrow afternoon. Fred W. Arnold will be in charge of the degree team. The new council will start with thirty-seven charter members.

give a picnic in the beech grove near the school house on Saturday, September 30.
The committee promises good music, refreshments, a splendid country dinner and other attractions. These good people desire to assist their pastor, the Rev.
J. J. Neasey, in building a new church.
Everybody is invited to attend.

TRINITY VS. MACKIN.
Managers Martin and Carr have arranged for a ball game on the James grounds tomorrow afternoon between the teams representing Trinity and Mackin Councils. There is quite a strong rivalry between the two teams and a warm game may be looked for. It has been distinctly agreed that neither team shall have any player outside its own council and that the game will be played on its merits.
Each club has a large following of rooters.

All fruit jars, the lids and rubbers
should be sterilized in boiling water before using, washing being insufficient.
Put them on in cold water and let come to a boil.

NOTED PRIEST.

Provincial of the Passionists
Will Visit Louisville
Next Spring.

Among the distinguished churchmen
who are expected here to attend the dedication of the new monastery of the Passionists on the Newburg road next April is the new Provincial of the order, the Very Rev. Dr. James Kent Stone. In religion he is known as Father Fidelis.
Father Fidelis was born in Boston, Mass.,
and came of a family noted for its learning. James Kent, the great American jurist and author of "Commentaries on American Law," was his maternal grandfather. He himself graduated from Harvard and is a veteran of the Civil war,
his brother serving with him being killed
by his side.

When the war was over Dr. Stone turned his attention to the ministry, and became, like his father, a minister in the Episcopalian church. Later he served successfully as President of Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y., and of Kenyon College, Gambier, O. While he was respected and honored by the Episcopals, he did not seem satisfied. In 1869 he became a Catholic and entered the Paulist order, where he remained a short time before joining the Passionists.
For twelve years he was a missionary in South America and later spent several years in Rome. Father Fidelis has written a number of religious works that have been favorably received.

The new Passionist monastery is being rapidly pushed, but months remain before it will be ready for the ceremony of dedication. It is expected that Archbishop Falconio will officiate at the dedicatory exercises. Possibly Cardinal
Gibbons may preach the sermon.

TRINITY COUNCIL.

Clark and Hund Teams Ready
For Membership
Contest.

There was a good attendance Monday
night at the meeting of Trinity Council, which was interesting and enlivened by spirited debate. Joseph Rush, who has been ill for several weeks, was the only member reported on the sick list. Following the example of Mackin Council,
twelve well known and popular members were appointed a committee to form a social club that will provide entertainment for the young men and women of the East End during the fall and winter months.

Messrs. Ben Hund and Dr. F. S. Clark announced that their teams had been selected and were ready for the membership contest that will be waged until the first of the new year, when it is hoped Trinity will have the largest roster in the Kentucky jurisdiction. After reports from the Joint Committee were approved, Frank Adams, of the Board of Grand Directors, and Clarence Zook made short addresses, that received generous applause. The financial reports submitted showed a steady increase in the reserve
fund of the council.

ANDY B. LUDWIG

Succeeds Late I. N. Vetter as Superintendent of the Workhouse.

Mayor Grainger is being generally congratulated on having selected Andy B.
Ludwig to succeed the late Ignatius N.
Vetter as Superintendent of the Workhouse. Mr. Ludwig has been promi-nently identified with labor unions and Democratic politics since he attained his majority. He was formerly State Inspector of Factories, but during several years past has been one of the recorders in the County Clerk's office.
He is a leading member of the Musician's Union. As Superintendent of the Workhouse he will receive a salary of $100 a month with house and maintenance free. His selection is an admirable one.

DANGER PASSED.

The many friends of William Bosler,
Jr., son of the Balliff of the Police Court,
will feel relieved to know that he is now
out of danger and is convalescing from a second attack of appendicitis at the family residence, 724 Sixth street. When he has recovered sufficient strength he will undergo an operation that will afford him entire relief.

DOWN TO WORK.

From Grand Director Con J. McBarron, of New Albany, it is learned that a council of the Young Men's Institute will be organized in Jeffersonville early next month with a charter list of about fifty names. The charter has been approved by Grand President Fries, and as soon as the Grand Secretary is heard from Director McBaron will set a date
for the institution of the new council.

It is stated that Messrs. Guinness &

Belfast grocers, jewelers, hairdressers
and drapers have declared against the proposed half holiday.

The Cork Gas Consumers' Gas Company has declared another half yearly dividend of 8 per cent.

William Armstrong was sentenced to a month's imprisonment for breaking a window in the house of R. L. Brown in Roscommon.

The Archbishop of Cashel, on a recent visit to Rossare, was tendered a hearty reception by priests and people of Taggart,
County Wexford.

While training a young donkey at the Cross, about seven miles from Arklow, a laborer named McGurk sustained injuries
that caused his death.

A chimney sweep named Carroll was murdered near Portunna, and two men named Casey were arrested in connection with the occurrence.

Patrick Derwin has been returned for trial on a charge of having taken a quantity of broken stone, the property of the Longford County Council.

John Dixon, who was entombed in a collapsed wall near Birr, was rescued alive and after having been imprisoned
nearly twenty-six hours.

Michael Keane, of Cappataggle, one of the Galway political prisoners, was according an enthusiastic welcome on his release by the people of Loughrea and district.

Owen Carroll, an old man who had returned from Australia to Dundalk, to which place he originally belonged, committed suicide by taking twenty grains
of strychnine.

Recently an excursion train conveying
a large number of Irish National Foresters to Derry was furiously stoned while passing an Orange district and several persons were injured.

The people of Mullingar presented Sister Mary De Sales (Dawson) with a golden chalice and plates and silver candlesticks in commemoration of the golden jubilee of her profession as a nun.

At the Edward street schools in Tralee, kindly lent by the Christian Brothers for the occasion, the Hon. Rocky Mountain O'Brien delivered an interesting address on "The Irish Race in America." The lecture was in aid of the Kerry '98 memorial project.

Owing to impaired eyesight and declining health, the Right Rev. Dr. Gaffney, Bishop of Meath, has petitioned his Holiness Pope Pius X. to be relieved of the administration of his diocese. The announcement of his retirement is received with regret.

A public subscription has been opened
under the auspices of the Boyle branch and the North Roscommon Executive of the United Irish League as a public protest and defence against the attacks of the bogus outrage mongers on the good name of the people of the district.

The Abbeyfeale Town Tenants' Association and Gaelic Athletic Club have passed resolutions thanking County Councillor McNaughton for resigning
his position on the Limerick Infirmary Committee in favor of the Rev. Father Casey, of Abbeyfeale, whom it was sought to exclude from membership of the committee.

A very sad and rather sudden death took place in Dungarvan. Mrs. Simon O'Brien, a most respectable lady, came to town to do her marketing and toward evening she became rather suddenly ill and retired into a friend's house. The priest and doctor were sent for, and happily both arrived in a few minutes.
The lady lingered for about half an hour,
when death took place.

At the Newry Board of Guardians a report was read from a special committee appointed to inquire into and investigate
a letter received from Sister M. Malachy, nurse of the workhouse, in connection with friction among the nurses in the infirmary. The committee were unanimous in believing that any friction
which might exist was altogether brought about by the unauthorized interference

of individual guardians and their injudicious visits to the workhouse at unreasonable hours. If the board had confidence in their superintending officials these visits of individual guardians must be discontinued in the strongest possible manner.

PRETTY RACE

For Honor and Prizes in the Falls City Bowling League.

The following table shows the standing of the clubs comprising the Falls City
Bowling League, which rolls on Haager's and Grote's Alleys every Tuesday evening. It looks like the Kentucky Irish American team intends to make a runway race of it for first money, having won twelve straight games, their nearest competitors being the Ferncliffe and John C. Lewis teams, who are tied for second place. The standing of the other six teams gives promise of some warm contests, as they are all tied for third as well as last place. A great many of the fair sex attend the games and "root" for their respective favorites. The officers of the league are John J. Barry, President; Squire John N. Velten, Vice President; Dennis J. Gleeson, Secretary; J. G.
Minnegerode, Treasurer; Fred Stengel,
Sergeant-at-Arms.

THEATRICAL.

Patrons of the Masonic Theater will have their first musical comedy of the season next week, when "The Seminary Girl" will be the offering. It is said that this is an unusually elaborate production, with tuneful music, witty lines and plenty of pretty girls. The engagement of "The Seminary Girl" is for the entire week. The production has been successful elsewhere and promises to be a hit here.

The New Century Girls will be next week's attraction at the Buckingham and should draw large audiences for every performance. This is regarded one of the strongest aggregations of vaudeville talent that will be seen here
this season. The burlesques abound with the latest and most catchy music,
and are presented with a wealth of scenery and electrical effects that can not be surpassed. In addition there is an olio
of nine new and up-to-date acts.

Water will boil on a cake of ice and mercury will be frozen at the Hopkins next week when Prof. Rugg gives a liquid air demonstration. The act will be the top-liner of an interesting bill.
Clayton, Jasper and Jenkins are booked
for a comedy turn, and the three great Nevaros will be seen in thrilling acrobatic stunts. West and Van Sichen will introduce their "Musical Gymnasium"
and Marcus and Gattelle are two clever men on roller skates. Armstrong and Holly, Miss Nettie Fields and the kinodrome are to be among the other good features.

Next Tuesday and Wednesday nights
and Wednesday matinee at Macauley's patrons of the play will be given a chance to see the Yankee Doodle comedian, George M. Cohan, and his company of one hundred people in his musical comedy success, "Little Johnny Jones." The piece comes here direct from New York, where it enjoyed a stay of twenty-six weeks of genuine popularity. George Ade's "The County Chairman" follows
for three nights, beginning Thursday, September 28, with a matinee Saturday.
It is such a quaint portrayal of life in the Middle West that it touches the heart strings of people who have grown up in this atmosphere.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing
the Past Week—General
News Notes.

Don't forget the reunion of Division 1
next Tuesday night. You are invited.

A new division has been organized at Northampton, Mass. This makes six in that one small town.

More than 1,000 people attended the unveiling of the Hibernian monument in St. Joseph's cemetery, at Keene, New Hampshire.

Division 1 of Hartford, Conn., has to seek new quarters on account of its large and constantly growing membership. It has now 130 members.

Division 2 will not meet again until the first Friday in October. Con Ford will have some earnest work mapped out for the rest of the year.

The twentieth anniversary of Division 4 of Detroit occurs October 25. The event will be commemorated by initiating
one hundred candidates.

A very successful State insurance plan
is in force in Michigan and the State officers are working to report 5,000 members by the end of the year.

Division 31 of Dorchester, Mass., celebrated its tenth anniversary on Monday.
State President William P. Lyons and several other State officers were present.

Division 4 meets next Wednesday night. Matters that will interest every member will be considered, and the officers therefore hope for a large attendance.

All members of the order in Chester county have been invited to attend a union meeting on the last Sunday in September, when several good speakers from other points in Pennsylvania will address them.

The greatest event in fraternal circles
in Toledo for many years was the recent social session of Division 3 and the Ladies' Auxiliary. More than 2,000 persons were present.

Division 1 of New Albany will give the next of its series of euchres next Tuesday night at Holy Trinity Hall. A large crowd was present at the last one, and the Hibernians are grateful to their friends for the manner they are turning out.

The last joint initiation held in St.
Joseph's Hall in Indianapolis was attended by many visiting members, and the event was made historical by the resolution adopted for a big celebration on the occasion of the visit of Douglas Hyde.

PLEASANT SURPRISE.

Among the pretty weddings of the past week was that of Miss Eva J. Gat-terdam and Mr. Henry F. Kersting, Jr.
The wedding took place at the home of the bride, 1422 Van Buren street, Tuesday at 4:30 o'clock, and will be a great surprise to her host of friends and admirers. Miss Gatterdam is the beautiful and attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Philip Gatterdam, and is a brilliant musician, both vocally and instrument-ally, along with her many other graces and accomplishments. Mr. Kersting is a very popular young jeweler of West Market street. Miss Eva Hensel was bridesmaid and Ferdinand Kersting was groomsman, while Miss Mae J. Tierney and Mr. D. Gatterdam stood up for the young couple. After the ceremony was performed the wedding supper was served at the home of the groom, 2840
West Market street. Mr. and Mrs. Kersting will spend several weeks in Chicago and the East, and will be at home to their friends after October 1.

PLEASANT EUCHRE.

Branch 110, Catholic Knights and Ladies of America, of New Albany, will give a euchre at Holy Trinity Hall on Friday afternoon and night, September 29. The games will be called at 2:30 and 8:30 o'clock sharp. The ladies having the affair in charge assure all who attend
a good time. Members of sister branches in Louisville and Jeffersonville are cordially invited to attend. Handsome prizes will be awarded the successful contestants.

STYLE AND STABILITY ARE DEMANDED IN YOUR FURNITURE.

But you don't have to hunt up a swell store to get the style and quality. The factories where all good furniture is made aren't located on fine streets, and there is where the best of them buy it.
That's where I buy mine; and I pay no
more than others, often less on account of quantity purchased. The difference is, I keep my stock in a modest neighborhood where rents are cheap and other economies possible, and there is where I interest you. I give you in prices the benefit of these economies.
Just investigate and see. Come in and let me show you the most stylish stock
in Louisville. I don't ask you to buy.
I want you to compare my prices and goods with others. I sell the products of the best manufacturers of Furniture, Carpets, Cook Stoves and Ranges cheaper than the same goods can be had elsewhere in Louisville.
